

Monday – Day #1

I am open to new ideas as my heart is connected to a continuous flow of source energy. Love is unlimited and has no fear. Therefore I am without fear when I am focused on what love would do. Everything in my space is clear and solid. I am complete and connected love. I can feel and see this stream of love filling my head with all the answers.

Tuesday – Day #2

I create the space to expand my dreams. I am achieving great success with every challenge I encounter. The love of my life is showing up strong through me being honest and clear. My heart is expanding in love as I let go of lack. I have no space for complaining based on my love is absolute.

Wednesday – Day #3

I love with all my heart. My body is magically aligning with the power of love. There is no room for lack now that I am focused on love. God blessed my body and health. I am in total alignment and I trust that nothing is by accident. I feel vertical and strong with every breath. I am expanding with love.

Thursday – Day #4

As my mind opens I see endless opportunity through the eyes of LOVE. I realize that nothing else matters. Now that I am in relationship with my heart I can find my way through any situation. I only see what is possible. Every challenge shows me a new way of moving forward in my life. I welcome new challenges so that I can strengthen my wealth.

Friday – Day #5

I am feeling so powerful and clear. I can see how love is empowering the wealth, health, and my view of my life. Nothing is impossible now that I am at one with my heart. I am overflowing with the power of love. Everyone in my space is experiencing success based on me showing up clear. I share this force with everyone by greeting them by seeing the love within. I am what I see. Everyday I see more abundance of love. I am stronger today.

Saturday – Day #6

Love is like a virus. I can see the link between my actions and how everyone in my life shows up. As long as I speak my mind through love everyone gets to win. This is so easy. Wow my life has opened up to extreme abundance. I received everything that I have ever wanted.

Sunday – Day #7

This day I honor God (source energy) for all the insight and support that I have received. I am living my dream authentically every day. I step into all challenges with fascination because I understand they are showing me how to achieve my next idea. I am a living representation of what is possible when people come from love. Everyone loves me.